

UK jobless: election blow for Tories

The number of unemployed in the United Kingdom last month rose by 40,200, the 23rd consecutive rise. The total seasonally adjusted figure of 2,674,300 is the highest for four years and represents 9.4% of the workforce

