

Refugees flee to safety

As Europe's worst refugee crisis since World War II spirals out of control, one in ten citizens of the former Yugoslavia is now without a home. While over 400,000 have fled throughout Europe, almost two million more are displaced and suffering appalling conditions within the war-torn republics

