

European consortium banks on A330

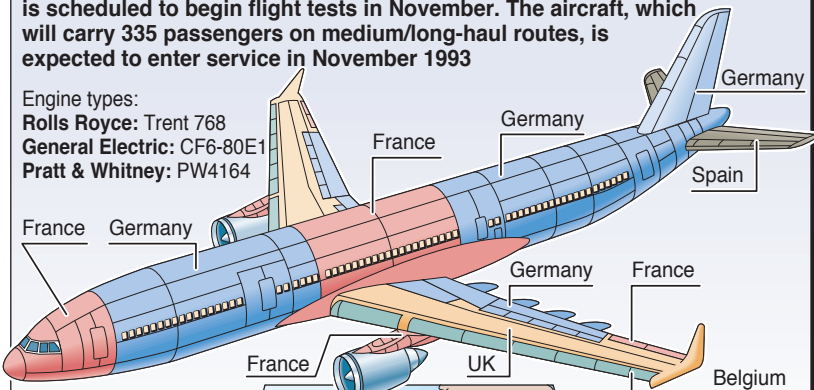

The A330, Airbus Industrie's new wide-body, twin-engined aircraft, is scheduled to begin flight tests in November. The aircraft, which will carry 335 passengers on medium/long-haul routes, is expected to enter service in November 1993

Engine types:

Rolls Royce: Trent 768

General Electric: CF6-80E1

Pratt & Whitney: PW4164

UK: BAe
Wings

France:
Aérospatiale
Cockpit, central fuselage, pylons

Spain: CASA
Horizontal tail

GRAPHIC NEWS

Belgium: Belairbus Wing leading edge slats

Germany:
Deutsche Airbus Forward and rear fuselage,
vertical tail fin