

Protecting the driver

In an accident components are designed to break away from the car to absorb the energy of an impact. The driver's fire-resistant clothing can protect him for up to 30 seconds in a blazing car.

