

Bosnian Serbs debate peace plan

Bosnian Serbs must decide whether to accept or reject the Geneva peace proposal which divides Bosnia into ten autonomous provinces. Hardliners are unwilling to agree but their leader, Radovan Karadzic, believes it to be the only way to end the conflict and has sworn to resign unless the peace deal is agreed

