

Bomb blast disrupts 40,000 commuters

An IRA bomb has exploded damaging the main railway lines between London and the West. A second device found and defused in the station toilets was timed to explode after the trackside bomb. Police believe the terrorists may have intended to kill and maim emergency personnel

