

Diana developments

INVESTIGATION: French judge declares seven paparazzi to be manslaughter suspects in the death of Diana. A photographer's lawyer calls it 'theatre justice,' a sop to public outrage over the fact they were killed while their car was being chased by paparazzi

MOURNING: Thousands of mourners continue to gather at London's St. James's Palace – where Diana's body lies in a closed private chapel – to sign books of condolence

FUNERAL: A million-plus people are expected to descend on central London to view Saturday's one-mile procession from St. James's to Westminster Abbey. Buckingham Palace is at odds with Diana's family over whether to invite Elton John to sing her favourite song at the funeral
