

Baby, you're so vain...

Venezuelans are the vainest people on the planet with 65 per cent of women and 47 per cent of men saying they think about their appearance "all the time". They also hold the record for deodorant use, and spend 20 per cent of household income on personal care products

Percentage of people who think about their appearance all the time (average both sexes)

