

Israel's fallback "separation" plan

Israel is considering a radical plan to permanently seal off Palestinian-ruled areas in the event of a collapse of the Sharm el-Sheikh truce and formation of a "national emergency government." Unilateral separation would condemn Palestinians to isolated enclaves and could cause a new eruption of violence

