

Hot toys on every kid's wishlist

Robot dogs and mini-scooters – this year's must-have Christmas toys – are fighting it out with Barbie dolls, Pokemon and action figure toys to top millions of children's lists to Santa. On average, parents spend more than £80 per child on toys between October and Christmas

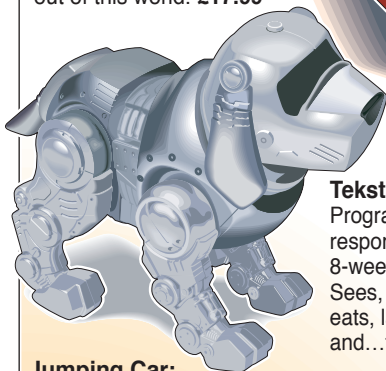

Thomas the Tank Engine:

For the first time ever, Thomas and his friends actually talk to each other.
From £12.99

Beep (and Bopp):

Two wacky characters from Tomy – remote control and out of this world. £17.99

Teksta cyber-puppy:

Programmed to respond like an 8-week-old puppy. Sees, hears, barks, eats, laughs, cries and...farts! £39.99

Jumping Car:

Nikko's car leaps through the air at the press of a button £69.99

Lego Championship Challenge:

Build your own soccer pitch and play in the colours of your favourite team.

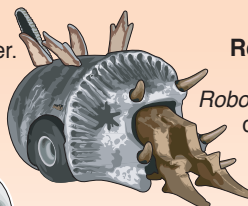

From £39.99

Lego Time:

Snap-on colour links allow you to create hundreds of looks from one watch.

From £29.99

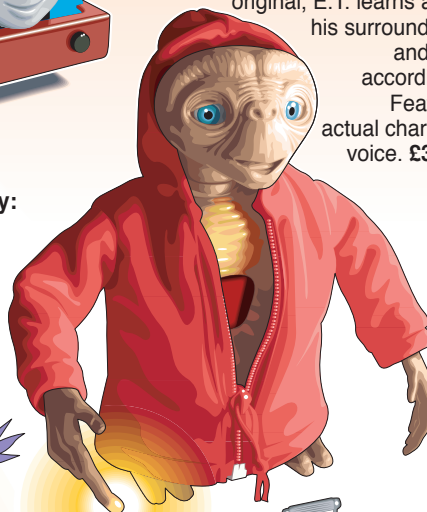

Ready to rumble:

Stage your own Robot Wars with radio-controlled Matilda or Shunt. £59.99

Interactive E.T.: Just like the original, E.T. learns about his surroundings and acts accordingly.

Features actual character voice. £34.99

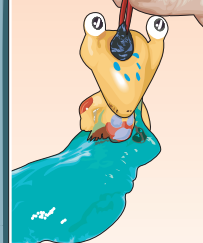

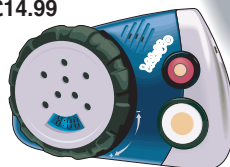

Pokémon/Digimon:

Characters and cards make excellent stocking fillers.

Wakeyoo:

Alternative alarm clock. Record your favourite sound and have it wake you every morning. £14.99

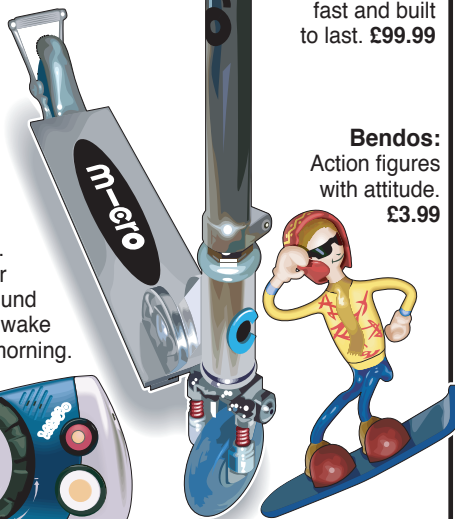

Martians Brainz:

Eagerly-awaited successor to Alien Eggs. Each pack comes with tweezers to remove the brain. £2.99

Micro Skate Scooter:

Hip, cool, fast and built to last. £99.99

Bendos:

Action figures with attitude. £3.99

