

Battle for Iraq's second city

Since being declared a "military objective" at the end of the first week of the war British troops have advanced on Basra from three sides, having earlier captured the airport and the strategic town of Al-Zubayr. Iraqi officials say they have inflicted heavy casualties in fierce fighting

