

London blasts

A series of blasts on London's tube and bus networks have caused a number of fatalities. The entire Underground system was shut down following explosions at Aldgate and Edgware Road, and a bus was ripped apart near Russell Square

