

French riots spread

Unrest in France's Arab and African communities has spread from the Parisian suburbs across the country and appears to be escalating, with rioters now deliberately confronting police

