

U.S. budget deficits

A surging economy and rising federal tax revenues could cut the U.S. budget deficit, according to the Congressional Budget Office. President Bush has set a goal of slashing the deficit in half by 2009

