

UN forces under threat in south Lebanon

Fears are growing that the deaths of four UN observers – and daily incidents where UN posts are endangered by both Israeli and Hezbollah fire – could discourage troop contributions to a new peacekeeping force

