

Mega-pipeline to unite South America

South American leaders, led by Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez, are planning to unite the continent with a $23 billion natural gas pipeline stretching 10,000km from Venezuela to the Argentine capital Buenos Aires. Environmentalists fear the plan will damage the Amazonian rainforest

