

Chinese New Year customs

Chinese homes decorated with flowers such as plum blossom, to symbolise prosperity

Gifts to friends and family include tangerines and oranges, representing happiness, and lai see – decorative red envelope containing money

Food plays important role. Traditional dishes include whole fish, for togetherness and abundance, and uncut noodles, symbolising long life

Lion dance believed to bring luck and happiness. All doors and windows must be open at midnight to allow old year out – firecrackers also see out old year and welcome new one. All debts to be settled and houses cleaned before new year