

France's third man closes election poll gap

Francois Bayrou's surge in opinion polls has made the self-described centrist a threat to Nicolas Sarkozy, the governing party's candidate for the Right, and Socialist Segolene Royal. Bayrou's biggest challenge is persuading the electorate he can assemble an effective coalition

