

Korea train link

North and South Korea are set to conduct cross-border train tests, the first such crossing since rail links between the two nations were severed during the 1950-53 war

Two five-car trains, each carrying 100 South Koreans and 50 North Koreans, will cross demarcation line

1: South-North, 27km

2: North-South, 25km

Seoul hopes tests will lead to gradual opening of rail service between both sides, with lines eventually linked to Russia's Trans-Siberian railroad
