

BlackBerry ban

Members of French President Nicolas Sarkozy's cabinet have had their BlackBerrys banned because of fears that the U.S. can intercept state secrets

National security: The Secrétariat général de la défense nationale has banned the popular PDA because it is based on servers located in the United States and Britain

