

Russia's missile-shield offer

America's plan to guard against missile attack from Iran, by placing 10 interceptor rockets in Poland and a new radar in the Czech Republic, has been strongly criticized by Russia. Instead, Moscow has offered to share data from its Gabala radar in Azerbaijan if the U.S. bases its missiles much farther south – in Turkey, Iraq, or in the Mediterranean Sea

