

U.S. poverty rates

Five years into a national economic recovery the share of Americans living in poverty has finally fallen.

The nation's poverty rate was 12.3% in 2006, down from 12.6% a year earlier, but still one point above the 2000 level

