

U.S. hunger rate up

Over 35.5 million Americans are living with hunger, despite a small dip in poverty rates. One in six New Yorkers and nearly one in four children in Texas and New Mexico don't know where their next meal will come from

