

Iraq civilian deaths

Fighting between security forces and Shia militiamen has driven civilian deaths in Iraq to their highest level since August 2007. A total of 923 Iraqi civilians, were killed in March, up from 721 in February, according to data compiled by the Iraqi government

