

Number of displaced highest in 15 years

More than 26 million people are displaced within their own countries because of armed conflicts and violence. This is the highest figure since 1993, the record year marked by large numbers of people fleeing conflicts after the break-up of the former Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union

