

Tuesday, June 24

ON THIS DAY

▲ 1994: The world's largest cargo aircraft, the Airbus A300-600T, nicknamed the Beluga, was unveiled

1519: Italian noblewoman Lucrezia Borgia, a member of the most infamous family of the Italian Renaissance, died

1793: The Constitution of Year One of the Republic was approved during the French Revolution

1989: Jiang Zemin was appointed General Secretary of the Communist Party in China, replacing Zhao Ziyang, who had expressed sympathy with pro-democracy students

2007: A car bomb attack in southern Lebanon killed six UN peacekeepers

Picture: Associated Press © GRAPHIC NEWS