

Poland agrees missile defence deal

Washington plans to station 10 interceptor missiles and a garrison of about 110 men on Polish territory, plus radar facilities in the Czech Republic, Britain and Greenland, to complete a system designed to destroy missiles from "rogue states" such as Iran. Russia bitterly opposes the plan

