

U.S. anger over bailout

Public support in the U.S. for the government's $700bn financial bailout bill has declined over the past week. A new Pew Research Center survey finds six-in-ten Americans (61%) say that they feel angry about the government's plan, and half (50%) admit they are scared

The government plan is the right/wrong thing to do?

Sep 19-22

Sep 27-29

1,505 telephone interviews, margin of error: $\pm 3\%$
Source: Pew Research Center © GRAPHIC NEWS