

Thursday, November 27

ON THIS DAY

▲ 1957: Caroline Kennedy, the sole survivor from the Kennedy White House years, was born in New York

1874: Chaim Weizmann, who became the first president of the newly founded Jewish state of Israel in 1948, was born

1910: Pennsylvania Station, then the largest railway station in the world, opened in New York City

1941: The last Italian forces remaining in Ethiopia surrendered at Gondar

2007: Zimbabwe's dire economic situation led Zambian Airways and Ethiopian Airlines to end direct flights to Harare, leaving only three foreign airlines flying to Zimbabwe