

Cholera outbreak crosses borders

The Zimbabwe cholera outbreak has killed more than 575 people and infected over 12,700 others, with the capital Harare – which has been without water since Sunday – the worst affected area. Cases of cholera have now been reported inside South Africa, Botswana and Mozambique

