

Tuesday, January 6

ON THIS DAY

▲ 1412: French warrior saint Joan of Arc is traditionally thought to have been born in Domremy, France

1838: Samuel Morse publicly demonstrated his telegraph for the first time in Morristown, New Jersey

1989: The Soviet Union rehabilitated thousands of people who were victims of Stalin's purges

1993: President Alberto Fujimori re-established constitutional government in Peru

2001: U.S. Congress formally confirmed George W. Bush as the winner of the most drawn-out presidential election in U.S. history