

U.S. interest rates

The U.S. Federal Reserve has cut its key interest rate from 1% to a range of between zero and 0.25%. It is the 10th cut since September 2007 – when it stood at 5.25% – and the lowest level in the Fed's history 7 percent

