

President's hi-tech "Obamobile" limo

President Barack Obama will ride from his inauguration in a brand-new stretched limousine built by General Motors. The Cadillac, referred to by the Secret Service as "the beast", is based on a GMC Topkick chassis

Engine: Believed to be Duramax 6.6-litre, 300-330hp diesel. Fuel economy – 34 litres/100km

Interior: Sealed to counter chemical or biological attack

Armour: 125mm-thick, capable of withstanding roadside bombs

Wheelbase: 4,356mm

GMC Topkick

Doors: 200mm deep with bullet-proof windows

Tyres: Run-flat Goodyear on 495mm wheels

Call-sign: Cadillac One