

Shutting down Gaza's tunnels

Israel's failure to destroy smuggling tunnels under the Gaza-Egypt border may force its military to consider occupying a southern strip of the coastal enclave – the so-called Philadelphi Corridor – to prevent Hamas militants from rearming

Gaza's lifeline
Bringing food, fuel and arms, tunnels began working days after Israel's Gaza offensive ended on January 18 ▼

