

North Korea preparing rocket launch

North Korea has announced that it is preparing to launch a satellite on one of its rockets, which analysts say could actually be the test-firing of a Taepodong-2 missile capable of reaching the U.S. state of Alaska

