

Obama reverses stem cell ban

In a major reversal of U.S. policy, President Barack Obama is lifting restrictions on federal funding for research on new stem cell lines. Under former President Bush, federal funding was limited to stem cell lines created from embryos destroyed prior to August 2001

EMBRYONIC STEM CELL POLICIES AROUND THE WORLD

