

Iran conducts third round of missile tests

Iran has test-fired its long-range Shahab-3 missile which, with a claimed range of 2,000km, puts Israel and American bases in the Gulf within range. The launch comes one day after the Revolutionary Guards test-fired short- and medium-range missiles

Shahab-3

Range: 2,000km

Burn time: 110 secs

Payload: Up to 1,000kg

Length: 16m

Diameter: 1.35m

Inertial guidance with GPS gives accuracy of within 190m

