

Obama unveils new U.S. nuclear strategy

A new defence policy, limiting the conditions under which the U.S. would resort to a nuclear strike, reflects President Obama's pledge to move towards a nuclear-free world and could strengthen U.S. arguments that other nations should either reduce or forego developing nuclear weapons

