

South Korea raises ship

South Korea's military have lifted the stern of a navy ship – thought to hold the bodies of 46 sailors – after an unexplained explosion sank the vessel near a contested border with North Korea

Northern Limit line

Recognised by South

Not accepted by North

Baengnyeong Island, March 26:

1,200 tonne Chon An, South Korean corvette with 104 personnel on board, believed to have been hit by torpedo fired from North Korean submarine