

U.S. oil spill reaches Louisiana marshes

Fears are growing of an environmental catastrophe as thick oil from the Gulf of Mexico slick began coating Louisiana's delicate marshlands, a month after the Deepwater Horizon rig exploded off the coast

