

Gulf oil spill closes in on Florida

As the Obama administration launches a criminal investigation into the Gulf of Mexico oil disaster, the spill shows no sign of being contained and could reach Florida's western beaches by the end of the week

