

U.S. cruise missile parts found in Yemen

Human rights watchdog Amnesty International has released images of a U.S. cruise missile that carried cluster munitions, apparently taken following an attack in December on an alleged Al Qaeda training camp in Yemen that killed 52 people, more than half of them women and children

Al Houthi rebel conflict

Al Qaeda presence