

Tuesday, July 13

ON THIS DAY

▲ 1930: The first-ever soccer World Cup began in Montevideo, Uruguay. The tournament, with 13 competing teams, was won by the host nation

1793: Charlotte Corday murdered French revolutionary leader Jean Paul Marat in his bath

1871: The world's first cat show was held in London

1995: U.S. scientists created a "super atom" by successfully testing a theory predicted by Einstein 70 years earlier

2009: Alleged Nazi war criminal John Demjanjuk was charged with 27,900 counts of accessory to murder in World War II at a court in Germany