

Russia moves to end EU gas supply dispute

Russia has resumed gas supplies to Belarus in a move to ease fears of supply cuts to the European Union, which has called the dispute an attack on the entire bloc. Russia, the world's largest energy exporter, supplies Europe with 25% of gas requirements

