

Super Typhoon Megi hits Philippines

An intense Category Five super typhoon has made landfall in the Philippines, lashing northeast Luzon island with 225km/h winds and waves up to 14 metres. The storm is expected to weaken slightly over the island before regaining strength as it heads across the South China Sea

