

Smartphone market share

As Google becomes the world's second largest smartphone platform, the shotgun marriage between Nokia and Microsoft is seen as a way for both companies to remain competitive

