

Syrian cities under siege

Syrian troops and tanks have deployed in urban areas to crack down on protests. Human rights campaigners say around 560 people have been killed and at least 2,500 detained since the unrest began in March

