

Competitors at 64th Cannes Film Festival

This year's festival will open with Woody Allen's new romantic comedy Midnight in Paris featuring a cameo by France's first lady Carla Bruni. Italian director Bernardo Bertolucci is to receive an honorary Palme d'Or, while actor Robert De Niro will chair this year's main competition jury

Films in competition (Above) Melancholia, The Skin I Live In, The Tree of Life

La Piel Que Habito (The Skin I Live In)	Spain	Pedro Almodóvar
L'Apollonide (House of Tolerance)	France	Bertrand Bonello
Pater	France	Alain Cavalier
Hearat Shulayim (Footnote)	Israel	Joseph Cedar
Bir Zamanlar Anadolu'da (Once Upon a Time in Anatolia)	Turkey	Nuri Bilge Ceylan
Le Gamin Au Velo (The Kid With a Bike)	Belgium	Dardenne brothers
The Artist	France	Michel Hazanavicius
Le Havre	Finland	Aki Kaurismäki
Hanezu No Tsuki	Japan	Naomi Kawase
Sleeping Beauty	Australia	Julia Leigh
Polisse (Poliss)	France	Maiwenn
The Tree of Life	United States	Terrence Malick
La Source des Femmes	France	Radu Mihaileanu
Ichimei (Hara-Kiri: Death of a Samurai)	Japan	Takashi Miike
Habemus Papam	Italy	Nanni Moretti
We Need to Talk About Kevin	United Kingdom	Lynne Ramsay
Michael	Austria	Markus Schleinzer
This Must Be the Place	Italy	Paolo Sorrentino
Melancholia	Denmark	Lars von Trier
Drive	U.S.	Nicolas Winding Refn