

Louisiana residents flee Mississippi flooding

Thousands of residents in the U.S. state of Louisiana are leaving their homes as officials continue to divert water from the swollen Mississippi river in an effort to spare the cities of Baton Rouge and New Orleans

Source: U.S. Army Corps of Engineers

© GRAPHIC NEWS