

Food prices could double by 2030

Oxfam is calling for an overhaul of the global food system, warning that prices of some staples will double by 2030, crushing the world's poorest people who already spend up to 80% of their income on food

